

HAY THERE INVASIVE SPECIES!

You're going to a local farm to spend the day apple picking, going on a hayride and roasting marshmallows... Choose the actions you will take at each turn of the maze so you don't spread any invasive species!

START

1. Your family and pet dog leave your car and climb into the wagon for a hayride. You:

Sit in the wagon and take photos. Follow A.

Throw hay out of the wagon and at your siblings to annoy them! Follow B.

3. After your candy apple, you go on a walk with your dog around the farm property. Your dog loves exploring new sights and smells! Before you know it, your dog is running over to a burdock bush! You:

Let him go as he needs exercise and you don't want to stop him from having fun. Follow E.

You grab a tight hold on his leash and keep your dog on the trail! Follow F.

You get great photos of your family and even snap a pic of a hawk flying overhead!

Your dog stays clean and you tell the owners about the burdock bush so they can remove it and protect their hay crops.

You accidentally spread weeds that were mixed in with the hay around the farmers' fields, which will now invade farmland.

Your dog gets 40 burrs stuck in his fur and it takes your whole family to get them off! Burrs are also spread around the field and will grow into burdock bushes next year where hay is harvested.

You accidentally introduce invasive insects that hitchhiked on the firewood – they can infest trees on farm property!

You get a sweet candy apple knowing that you did your part to protect the farmland!

You happily roast marshmallows using the local farm wood – yum!

4. It's time for a campfire as the sun is setting and it's getting chilly! You want to help get the fire started as soon as possible, so:

You go to your family vehicle and get wood you brought from home – you live in the next town over. Follow G.

You help carry wood from the farm's wood pile. Follow H.

You start a new infestation of weeds from the invasive plants stuck on your clothes.

2. While stepping out of the wagon, you:

Take time to brush off your clothes while still in the wagon, as there is lots of hay and other plant parts stuck to you. Follow C.

Are so excited to get a candy apple that you rush straight for the booth with hay flying off your clothes. Follow D.
