

INVASIVE

Canada thistle

Cirsium arvense

- Despite my name, I am native to Europe and Asia. I was one of the first weeds introduced by settlers in the 1600s.
- My flowers are small and my stem is smooth, but watch out! My leaves have spikes that protect me from herbivores.
- My plants grow thick, crowding out grasses and reducing crop production.