

INVASIVE

Freshwater jellyfish

Craspedacusta sowerbii

- I am about the size of a penny and although you won't feel it, I have stinging tentacles that I use to catch and eat zooplankton.
- I am native to the Yangtze River basin in China but have spread to all continents except Antarctica.
- When I am in my immature 'polyp' stage, I am about 2 mm tall and may attach to aquatic plants and animals.